Dear Mr. President Elect Trump,

The Polish American Congress (PAC), our nation's largest Polish American umbrella organization, offers you its sincere congratulations for the history-making victory last night.

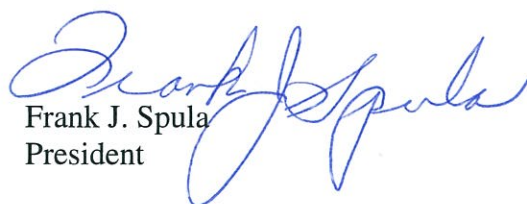

I hope that the meeting that we held this September in Chicago with the leaders of the Polish American Congress and the Polonia community will be the beginning of a highly successful and productive relationship, a badge of honor that the Polish American Congress has worn with every U.S. President since our founding at the end of World War II.

In the spirit of that relationship, I would be honored to meet again in the near future to continue the exchange of ideas, in particular those addressing strengthening U.S. – Poland relations as well as the security challenges faced in the land of our forefathers, and how to convert these concerns into specific, strategic actions.

Allow me also to take this opportunity to invite you to meet with the PAC Council of National Directors – a governing body composed of elected representatives of our state division and members organizations nationwide – when it meets in Washington D.C. for its annual meeting in the fall of 2017.

As throughout its history the Polish American Congress has sought to make its unique contribution to making America great, we look forward to the upcoming years of working together and forging a strong cooperation that will benefit not only our ethnic group but, first and foremost, our great nation.

Respectfully,

Frank J. Spula
President
